Our latest hybrid. 110 years after our first.

In 1900 Ferdinand Porsche built the Lohner-Porsche, the world's first petrol/electric hybrid vehicle. 110 years later, our latest full parallel hybrid technology powers the new Cayenne S Hybrid. It features a 3.0 litre V6 supercharged engine paired with a 288 volt electric motor to provide a total output of 380hp. This results in impressive acceleration from 0 to 62mph in just 6.5 seconds. Yet combined fuel consumption is 34.4mpg and CO<sub>2</sub> emissions only 193g/km. And under moderate acceleration, the electric motor can even power the car independently up to a speed of 37mph, delivering maximum efficiency without compromising performance. This is the future of hybrids, 110 years in the making.
